

Dr. Aresh Kumar Maji, W.B.E.S

M. Sc., M. Tech., Ph. D (IIT, Kharagpur)

[Associate Professor of Geology]

Officer-in-Charge

E-mail: askmaji@rediffmail.com

[Aresh Kumar Maji joined W.B.E.S in 1999]

Medal/Award/Honour

- Recipient of N.C. Banerjee Gold Medal, 1985 of the University of Burdwan.

Fellow

- Fellow of the Geological Society of India, Bangalore (F.G.S. Ind.) since 2003.

Research Interest

- Thermodynamic application to petrological system,
- Genetic modeling on massif anorthosite,
- Field oriented petrological and geochemical problems

Research Project

- Completed a major research Project on “Metamorphic evolution of granulite-massif anorthosite complex at Saltora, Bankura District, West Bengal” funded by the Council of Scientific and Industrial Research, New Delhi.
- Completed a minor Research Project on “Deformation microstructures of the Bengal anorthosite, Bankura and Puruliya Districts, West Bengal” funded by the University Grants Commission, ERO, Kolkata.

Significant Research Outcomes

- Discovery of unusually high HFSE and REE-enriched ferrodiorite from Turkel anorthosite complex in Eastern Ghats Mobile Belt.
- First report of Meso-Neoproterozoic polyphase prograde metamorphism in the CGC.
- Discovery of Eastern Indian Tectonic Zone (EITZ).
